TECHNICIAN FIFTH GRADE ALFRED J. TETT, combat engineer from North Bergen, New Jersey

"I went ashore at Normandy on D Day plus one with a combat engineer squad. We had built one bridge, repaired another, and were heading toward a third job when the Japs 'barraged' us in. I had fourteen men in my truck. A couple of them were killed and a couple of others wounded. I was just crawling under the truck for cover when I got it from a 'tree burst' - that's a shell that bursts at treetop level. The concussion blew me under the truck and right out the other side. A shell fragment went through my right arm and I lost a finger from my left hand. At an evacuation hospital an Army nurse cleaned me up, stood by me until I was operated on. I'll never forget her. I remember the boys cheered like mad when they saw the first Army nurses hit the beach at Normandy. They knew, then, that if they were hit they'd be taken care of right."

SERVICE STATION ATTENDANTS

BEFORE YOU SELL GASOLINE TO A CUSTOMER

Be sure to do this FIRST:

1. Ask for the Gasoline Ration Book.
2. Check sticker on windshield with book.
3. Check description on front cover with vehicle for which gasoline is being purchased.
4. Be sure the expiration date on front cover of ration book has not passed.
5. Be sure there are enough coupons good for current period to cover purchase.
6. Accept no coupons unless You detach them.
7. Follow all special instructions and regulations in checking and handling coupons.

Failure to observe these rules will violate the gasoline-rationing regulations

NOTE TO PUBLIC: DO NOT ASK GASOLINE DEALERS TO VIOLATE THE REGULATIONS
